

Clackamas Community College Bond Community Oversight Committee

Charter

Purpose

The purpose of the Clackamas Community College Community Oversight Committee is to provide oversight to the implementation of bond measure 3-613, approved by voters on November 5, 2024. The committee's charge is to:

- Receive regular reports on all bond-related projects.
- Ensure the bond projects reflect the community's input and needs.
- Advise on and help implement public engagement strategies.
- Inform and engage constituencies, communities, businesses, and civic organizations.

Composition

The committee will be comprised of approximately 30 to 40 members who demonstrate a balanced commitment to the goals outlined in the ballot title of measure 3-613. These goals state the community college bonds will be used to construct and expand facilities, upgrade technology, and modernize equipment. The committee will be comprised of a composite of district members who represent each of the seven zones. The membership shall include the following invited stakeholders:

- CCC Board of Education
- District residents/neighbors
- Chamber of Commerce/Business Alliance
- Civic leaders
- K-12 partners
- City/County economic development and workforce partners
- Clackamas business partners
- Clackamas Community College students, staff, and faculty

At the first meeting, members will determine if it would like to appoint a committee chairperson who will work with bond team members to plan committee meetings and activities and to facilitate committee meetings.

Timeframe

It is estimated to have the committee in place for the next four years or until the bond is fully implemented. Meetings will be held up to four times per year beginning in the fall of 2025.

Communication

The college will be responsible for posting and maintaining an informational web presence to ensure the public is kept up-to-date on the committee's and college's efforts relating to the implementation of the bond.

If contacted by the media, committee members agree to refer contacts for project information to the college's public information officer. If interviewed, members agree to clearly represent their own opinion when communicating with the media and not to represent the opinions of the college or committee.
