Okay, I'll see what our field operations have available next week to meet them on-site. For now, you can let them know that if the lines will be de-energized more than 8 hours per event, we will have to construct a pole line on the west side of the street. Preliminary costs look to be ab out $80k to $140k for the install and less than half that for the eventual removal. For jobs with payments posting this week and next, our crews are scheduling the work to be completed by the end of January of first part of February, providing our survey teams are able to get the proposed new pole locations marked within a two week period once that payment has been made and if the needed quantity of poles is available.

Thank you,
