For Wolf Creek Elementary the end of the year and the end of an era are imminent. Although it is a sad occasion for the community of Wolf Creek, I am happy to say that the transition for students appears to be progressing smoothly. Students had a successful visit to Manzanita on May 8. This was followed by a chance for parents to meet teachers from Manzanita here at Wolf Creek on the evening of May 14. Kudos to Jessica Durrant, the Manzanita staff and the Wolf Creek staff for making these two opportunities positive experiences for our students and parents.

The transition for my Wolf Creek staff has also worked out about as well as anyone could have hoped. All teachers and all but one certified staff member have already been placed in other positions in the district. Kudos to Ms Breckner and her staff for making this happen so quickly and professionally.

The end of the year has been filled with special events and educational field trips. Events included an "All about Trees" presentation, Spring Concert and Art Show, and spirit week. Science field trips included Science Works Museum, Wildlife Images, and Wildlife Safari. An end of year celebration/field day is scheduled for the last day of school that KDRV and the Daily Courier plan to cover.

Plans have been made to start moving needed inventory from Wolf Creek to Manzanita once school is out. Library materials have already been transferred this week. Some of the teachers will be working two extra days after school to clean out the classrooms and to help with the move. I appreciate the teamwork from everyone in helping prepare the school for closure.

Respectfully submitted,
Dave Fuller
