Online Learning: A Successful Alternative for Meeting Student Course Needs

Winning Before You Start

Oct. 4, 2016 • Warrensburg-Latham High School • Warrensburg

PROGRAM:

Online Learning: A Successful Alternative for Meeting Student Course Needs

The reality is that some students need an alternative educational experience to reach their learning potential. This can include students wanting a course not offered locally, summer school courses, credit recovery, or courses offsite due to illness. Cindy Hamblin, Director of Illinois Virtual School (IVS) will explore how Illinois Virtual School's online course solutions can meet these needs. The session will include a virtual demonstration of an Illinois Virtual School course.

Winning Before You Start

In today's electoral environment, with a greater likelihood of organized opposition, school referenda are increasingly difficult to pass. That's why it has become more and more important to engage the community in the planning process to create community ownership of the proposal. Anne Noble, Managing Director, Public Finance, Stifel and Rod Wright, President, UNICOM●ARC will discuss best practices for community engagement, in the overall context of how community engagement can establish a solid foundation for a successful referendum — in essence "winning" before the actual referendum question is created.
