Background Information

If available, Superintendent Jaszczak will provide an update from the 2025 Legislative Session.

The regular session adjourned on May 19th, and a special session is expected to be called by the governor to address unfinished business, particularly the state budget. While Governor Walz and legislative leaders have been working to finalize the budget, a special session is needed to pass the required legislation. The timing of the special session is still uncertain, with speculations ranging from a one-day session to a more extended period.

- Regular Session Adjourned: The 2025 regular session of the Minnesota Legislature ended on May 19th.
- Unfinished Business: The Legislature was unable to complete the state budget before the adjournment date.
- Special Session Anticipated: Governor Walz plans to call a special session once agreements are reached on the outstanding budget items.
- Purpose of Special Session: The special session will be used to pass the finalized budget and other legislation that was not completed during the regular session.
- Timing Unclear: While there's anticipation for a special session soon, the exact timing is still undecided.
- Potential for One-Day Session: Some speculate that the special session could be a one-day event.
