Greetings from Glendale,

February was a quiet month as the students continued with their daily classroom routine. The second MAST testlet was completed. Upon reviewing the data from the second writing assessment, once again, the students prove to be excellent writers. Six out of eight of the third through seventh graders scored at the proficient level. The Glacier National Park rangers had their monthly visit with a lesson focusing on bird beak adaptations. As usual, they had some great hands-on activities that the students enjoyed. Lynnell Bullshoe did the counseling visit this month. She incorporated the Blackfeet culture and language into her lesson and provided the students with an art project as well. We are so thankful to have such wonderful visitors. The lessons are always so engaging and well prepared. Wishing you all a very merry March!

Our attendance for February was 96%. We started out our month cheering on the dog mushers in the Race To the Sky in Lincoln. We all chose our favorite to win from the racers that were going on the 300 mile trek. It was exciting to keep track of the racers. We also checked to see which of the mushers are going on to the Iditarod in March.

We did all of our writing assessments. The stories are getting more detailed and descriptive and the students are working harder on grammar and sentence structure.

The Rangers taught us another fascinating lesson on how birds with different beaks have varying diets. We also celebrated our Valentine's Day with cards, games and treats.

Respectfully submitted,
Mrs. Gregoire
