ASCA 2014 CONFERENCE JUNE 29–JULY 2 ORLANDO

Capture the magic with us this summer at the 2014 ASCA Annual Conference, Build Magical Futures, June 29-July 2. We've lined up more than 100 breakout sessions for your education and professional development. Not to mention amazing speakers and networking opportunities galore – all under one roof at Disney's Swan & Dolphin Hotel, Orlando, Fla.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Pat Williams

Building Champions of Character

In this perceptive and practical speech, Pat Williams, senior vice president of the Orlando Magic basketball team, shares the key steps needed to go from dreaming to achieving – and how you can help your students turn into the champions they're meant to be. He'll share his blueprint for working and living a life full of passion, energy, imagination and creativity and give you tips on how to infuse students with the desire to be their best, while staying true to their values and integrity.

Stedman Graham

Stedman Graham's Identity Leadership program helps you learn who you are, develop your vision, set goals and realize personal achievement through a systemic process aimed toward success. Get the tools to improve your personal potential and professional performance through guided self-assessment and individual leadership. After learning who you are, where you are going and how you're going to get there, you'll better understand how to help students build their identities and establish a foundation for success. Learn to act as a leader in your own life.

Rosalind Wiseman

Masterminds & Wingmen: Helping Boys Cope with Schoolyard Power, Locker-Room Tests, Girlfriends & the New Rules of Boy World

Best-selling author Rosalind Wiseman gives insights into what matters most to boys – their friendships, girls and their relationships with adults. Discover what's really going on between boys and girls and why they can be so reluctant to ask adults for help. Learn how boys' and girls' social group dynamics influence their interactions and get step-by-step advice on how to teach young people to treat each other with dignity. Wiseman provides a roadmap for educators, parents and communities to reach boys and help them grow into the best sons, brothers, friends, students, athletes and boyfriends they can be.

RAMP INTENSIVE APPLICATION REVIEW

Sunday, June 29

The next round of Recognized ASCA Model Program (RAMP) applications are due in October 2014. If you've already started working on your application and are looking for feedback on how it looks so far, register for a two-hour appointment with a RAMP reviewer to present your RAMP application in its current state and get on-the-spot feedback. Limited slots are available, and there's a $99 charge for the appointment. E-mail ramp@schoolcounselor.org to register or request more information.

RED CROSS TRAINING

Foundations of Disaster Mental Health Sunday, June 29, 9 a.m.-12 p.m. 0.3 CEUs/3 Contact Hours Foundations of Disaster Mental Health is the prerequisite course for those who are certified or licensed by a state department of education as a school counselor who want to serve with Red Cross during a disaster. This class offers both theoretical and practical information for providing crisis intervention services to shelter residents, staff and others involved in disasters. Class participants learn what to do and not do, how to build a Go Kit and how to work within Red Cross protocol to assist people in emergencies. Instructors are seasoned veterans of national disasters. No additional fee required; to register e-mail disastertraining@schoolcounselor.org.

Space is limited; you must sign up in advance. Note: This is just the first step toward being a certified Red Cross disaster mental health provider. You will need to work with your local Red Cross to complete the certification requirements.
