Performance Plan Related to a specific program/course Other

Provide a detailed description below of the focus of the conference, and how attending will have a positive impact on climate, culture, and student learning.

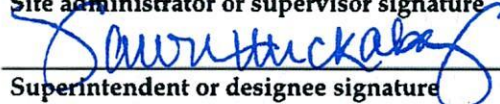

Lyon County School District would like to provide a collaborative opportunity for our Educational Services Department with Title II teams from across the nation to support improvements in professional development within the District. To do this, we would like to send the Educational Services Department to the 2024 Learning Forward Conference in Denver, Colorado. Attending the Learning Forward Conference will support the purpose of Title II, Part A by increasing the number of teachers, principals, and other school leaders who are effective in improving student academic achievement in schools. Attending this conference would also support the School Improvement Plan through developing community success systems and access to quality professional learning opportunities.

Welcome

We know you are invested in the success of your educators and students, so we invite you to learn more about Learning Forward's Annual Conference -- the only conference focused exclusively on how to plan, implement, and measure high-quality professional learning that changes educator practice and improves results for all students.

Learning Forward brings together thought leaders, experts, researchers, and other practitioners to collaboratively share the latest learnings, knowledge, and techniques. Our conference models deep learning and best practices so you can take them back to lead learning in your schools, districts, or systems.

Read on to find out why we are known as THE conference for learning about professional learning.

Preconference Sessions (https://lfp.learningforward.org/session-selection/view_preconference_PCXX.cfm)

A focus on deep learning that changes practice

At Learning Forward, we go beyond the usual lectures and anecdotes of typical professional development conferences with in-session engagement strategies that are focused on deep and meaningful learning that is evidence-supported and proven to change practice.

We set the bar high for our presenters. They know they Learning Forward is not the typical conference. They know they are presenting for the organization that wrote the Standards for Professional Learning. They know that our attendees lead professional learning back in their schools and systems, so they cannot waste time with sessions that are not evidence-backed solutions with proven strategies.

Evidence of impact

Sessions must have evidence of impact that leads to improved student outcomes.

Results for students, not trends and gizmos

Did you know that we do not have an exhibit hall? Our attendees made it clear that they would rather spend their time on deep learning. Instead, we offer a limited number of sponsorship opportunities so that you get more personal access with the top minds of the field.

See what others are saying about our conference

"High-quality professional learning with engaging presenters. It was wonderful to hear about these topics rooted in research and with a national perspective, and then hear from practitioners in other states. It helped me see how these seemingly intractable issues are being addressed elsewhere and consider how I can provide professional learning locally."

- Mauree Donahue Revier, Director of Education and Innovation
The Dalles, Oregon

Can I use Title II-A funds to pay for the conference?

- Are you a teacher, paraprofessional, school-based librarian, school counselor, or school administrator?
- Can you show that the content you will gain aligns to or is part of a broader professional learning plan?
- Can you show that you will either learn collaboratively while at the conference (because you are part of a team of attendees) or that you will share what you have learned with colleagues when you return to your school?

If you answered yes to these three questions, your district could approve the use of Title II-A funds to support attendance at the conference.

Tired of racing to your next session?

Learning Forward uses a ticketed system so you can reserve your seat in advance. This way, you are guaranteed a seat in the sessions you want to attend, no matter how far you have to walk! No more standing against a wall, sitting on the floor, or having to leave sessions early just to get your next seat, like at typical professional development conferences. Instead, you can take your time between sessions and focus on the learning.

"The Learning Forward conference offers top-tier professional development opportunities, providing attendees with valuable insights into the latest educational trends, research, and effective teaching strategies. It is a prime platform to connect with other educators, administrators, and experts in the field, fostering collaborations and the exchange of innovative ideas that can positively impact your educational community. The conference focuses on continuous improvement in education, equipping attendees with practical tools and resources to enhance teaching practices, curriculum development, and overall educational outcomes."

- Gigi Geimer, ESE Professional Learning Specialist
Port Charlotte, FL
