Series Description

Para-educators have the opportunity to make a positive difference in the lives of the students they serve. The job of a para-educator is neither simple nor easy and can often become overwhelming. To assist para-educators to meet the unique needs of the students they serve, Region 17 Education Service Center is hosting PEAKS Summer 2012, a series of training opportunities for para-educators.

Target Audience

Para-Educators
Instructional teams of teachers and para-educators

Series Goal

The goal of this training series is to provide information, strategies, and skills designed for para-educators to more effectively support the instructional process and to better understand the important roles they play in this process.
