Determining

A Focus

The school determines the focus of the Learning Walk. It could be around a hidden skill such as vocabulary, formative assessment, or the Fundamental Five.

A school that wants to conduct a Learning Walk, should have deep conversations about what teachers will do to improve student achievement.

In those discussions, teachers must be clear about what is expected of them, what is expected to happen in each classroom, and principals need to ensure that teachers are provided with professional learning opportunities to help them make necessary changes.
