Sara,

Your energy is contagious. Your commitment encouraging and the generosity of your time is awesome! Thank you so much for assisting Amy Tindell collect information for her Senior Project regarding the Hospital School Program. You have inspired her to share her compassion for others through the Hospital program, have helped create a strong advocate and been instrumental in Amy making a change in her educational direction. Amy's involvement, although it was short, made a huge impact on her outlook for life, her understanding of what goes on with the hospital program from the perspective of the children, parents, teachers, administrators, doctors and the hospital. She has been profoundly changed in a way that gave her permission to let that wonderful heart of hers open up to others in need.

Thank you so much for your commitment to this program, your time and information given to Amy for research as well as including access to the classroom which allowed Amy to be a small part of this rewarding and worthy program.

Amy will be presenting her Senior Project next week and she is both excited and nervous. You are welcome to attend, if you are available. If you would like the details, just let me know. She would be thrilled to have you in the audience.

A very grateful mother,
Chrys Lebs

P.S. I am sharing this e-mail with Barbara Jorgensen, as it was her report at our board meeting that first introduced me to the Hospital School program. I in-turn shared this incredible program with Amy and she ran with it. Her passion has blossomed for the support, encouragement, stability and inspiration the Hospital School program provide for families. Thank you!
