Elementary Principal’s Report

Thankful

This month coming towards Thanksgiving, I thought it appropriate to express my gratitude to our teachers, educational assistants and all staff for the the wonderful experiences they provide our kids. I know I am joined in this gratitude by our community and parents as well. It takes effort. It takes dedication. It also takes a love for children to do the job they do each and every day.

It is because of this that they add so much more to our school days besides first class learning experiences.

Just a few examples of them going above and beyond this past month include; our school wide scarecrow decorating contest, grandparents day, surprise readers, museum field trips, parent-teacher conferences, and much, much more!

As we look around our region, state, and nation we see so many schools struggling and letting real, legitimate difficulties impact programming for the kids. While we experience many of these same challenges as well, it has been so special to see our school and staff come together and continue to support our children with so many special opportunities no matter what it takes.

Thank you Unity Elementary Team!
