Summary:

The School Health Advisory Council is an advisory group of individuals who represent different segments of the community. In Texas, a district school board must appoint at least five members to the SHAC (TEC Section 28.004). These individuals will represent the school board and make recommendations on school health programs. The law also requires that a parent member be selected to serve as the chair or co-chair of this council.

Background
Information:

SHACs play an important role in strengthening the connection between health and learning. They can help parents and community stakeholders reinforce the knowledge and skills children need to stay healthy for a lifetime. The most successful SHACs are formed when time is taken to plan and implement a recruitment process. Selected members for the SHAC should:

- (1) Have a demonstrated interest in youth and their well being
 - (2) Be aware of the community and know the local culture and needs
 - (3) Reflect the diversity of the community
 - (4) Have a commitment to a quality school health program
 - (5) Be willing to commit time to meetings and school health events
