US Treasury yields moved lower in September for the third month of declines. Yields fell up to 50 basis points (bps) during the month with the front-end of the curve leading the decline. The US equity markets continued to move higher as the Dow Jones Industrial Average and S&P 500 indexes reached all-time highs on the last day of September. During the month, the Dow Jones Industrial Average, S&P 500, and Nasdaq-100 indexes advanced 1.8% and 2.0%, and 2.7%, respectively. The Federal Reserve (Fed) cut the policy rate by 50 bps to a range of 4.75% to 5.0% at the September 18 Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meeting. The larger-than-anticipated cut (based on economists' consensus) was described as a recalibration of policy and delivered to maintain the economy's strength, according to Chair Jerome Powell. He cautioned that the market should not infer that the pace of cuts will continue at 50 bps. The Summary of Economic Projections (SEP) showed that in aggregate the Fed pencilled in two more 25-bps this year and roughly a 25-bps cut each quarter in 2025, bringing the policy rate to about 3.25 to 3.5% by 2025 year-end. Their projections see unemployment increasing to 4.4% but stabilizing at that level as growth remains at 2.0% throughout the forecast horizon. The next FOMC meeting is scheduled for November 7. The Fed funds futures market is fully pricing-in a cut of 25 bps at that meeting.

(c) The Weighted Average Maturity One calculation uses the industry standard definition of state maturity for floating rate instruments, the number of days until the next reset date. The Weighted Average Maturity Two calculation uses the final maturity of any floating rate instruments, as opined in Texas Attorney General Opinion No. JC0359.
