<sup>2</sup> A school district is not required to automatically accommodate a student's or his/her parents' religious beliefs by allowing the student to opt out of reading required materials or programs. A student is entitled to accommodation only if a district's requirement burdens his/her free exercise of religion and the requirement is not justified by a compelling state interest. Mozert v. Hawkins Co. Bd. of Educ., 827 F.2d 1058 (6th Cir. 1987). A student's free exercise right would unlikely be burdened by compelling the student to be exposed to ideas with which his/her religion disagrees. See Fleischfresser v. Directors of Sch. Dist. 200, 15 F.3d 680 (7th Cir. 1994). On the other hand, compelling a student to perform an act that violates the student's religious beliefs would burden his/her free exercise right, and the school district would need to justify the requirement with a compelling state interest in order to be able to enforce it.
