Dear Superintendent:

As of today, 580 school districts have adopted the Resolution Concerning High Stakes, Standardized Testing of Public School Students. They represent 57 percent of Texas school districts and those districts serve 3.5 million students – 70 percent of all Texas schoolchildren.

Together, these districts have captured the attention of lawmakers, business leaders, parents and the news media, not just in Texas, but also around the nation. Similar objections to over-emphasis on testing have been raised in states across the country and a national dialogue is underway.

But it's not enough. If change is our goal, we need all districts to stand united in this effort. We're setting a goal of 80 percent passage by the first day of the 2012-13 school year. That means we need at least 237 more districts to adopt the resolution in August – and your district is one of them.

Let's kick off this school year by sending a message to Austin that educators want what's best for students and the over-reliance on standardized testing is crippling our ability to provide that. Let them know that superintendents and school trustees are advocating for children and for a system that is student-centered and fosters creativity, innovation, problem-solving skills, collaboration and critical thinking.

Please put the resolution on your school board's August agenda and notify TASA of its passage by Aug. 24, 2012. If you have any questions regarding the resolution, don't hesitate to contact the TASA office at 800-725-8272.

A copy of the resolution is included with this letter. You can find more tools, including an electronic copy of the resolution and a list of districts that have adopted the resolution, at www.tasanet.org under the New Vision/School Transformation tab.

If our records are in error and your board has already adopted the resolution, please let us know. Thank you for your dedication to Texas public schools.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jeff Turner

BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE
WEST ORANGE-COVE CONSOLIDATED INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

RESOLUTION CONCERNING HIGH STAKES, STANDARDIZED TESTING OF TEXAS
PUBLIC SCHOOL STUDENTS

STATE OF TEXAS §
COUNTY OF ORANGE §

WHEREAS, the over reliance on standardized, high stakes testing as the only assessment of learning that really matters in the state and federal accountability systems is strangling our public schools and undermining any chance that educators have to transform a traditional system of schooling into a broad range of learning experiences that better prepares our students to live successfully and be competitive on a global stage; and

WHEREAS, we commend Robert Scott, Commissioner of Education, for his concern about the overemphasis on high stakes testing that has become “a perversion of its original intent” and for his continuing support of high standards and local accountability; and

WHEREAS, we believe our state’s future prosperity relies on a high-quality education system that prepares students for college and careers, and without such a system Texas’ economic competitiveness and ability and to attract new business will falter; and

WHEREAS, the real work of designing more engaging student learning experiences requires changes in the culture and structure of the systems in which teachers and students work; and

WHEREAS, what occurs in our classrooms every day should be student-centered and result in students learning at a deep and meaningful level, as opposed to the superficial level of learning that results from the current over-emphasis on that which can be easily tested by standardized tests; and

WHEREAS, We believe in the tenets set out in Creating a New Vision for Public Education in Texas (TASA, 2008) and our goal is to transform this district in accordance with those tenets; and

WHEREAS, Our vision is for all students to be engaged in more meaningful learning activities that cultivate their unique individual talents, to provide for student choice in work that is designed to respect how they learn best, and to embrace the concept that students can be both consumers and creators of knowledge; and

WHEREAS, only by developing new capacities and conditions in districts and schools, and the communities in which they are embedded, will we ensure that all learning spaces foster and celebrate innovation, creativity, problem solving, collaboration, communication and critical thinking; and

WHEREAS, these are the very skills that business leaders desire in a rising workforce and the very attitudes that are essential to the survival of our democracy; and

WHEREAS, imposing relentless test preparation and boring memorization of facts to enhance test performance is doing little more than stealing the love of learning from our students and assuring that we fall short of our goals; and

WHEREAS, we do not oppose accountability in public schools and we point with pride to the performance of our students, but believe that the system of the past will not prepare our students to lead in the future and neither will the standardized tests that so dominate their instructional time and block our ability to make progress toward a world-class education system of student-centered schools and future-ready students; therefore be it

RESOLVED that the West Orange-Cove CISD Board of Trustees calls on the Texas Legislature to reexamine the public school accountability system in Texas and to develop a system that encompasses multiple assessments, reflects greater validity, uses more cost efficient sampling techniques and other external evaluation arrangements, and more accurately reflects what students know, appreciate and can do in terms of the rigorous standards essential to their success, enhances the role of teachers as designers, guides to instruction and leaders, and nurtures the sense of inquiry and love of learning in all students.
