Subject

2026-2027 School District Calendar

Background Information

The District Educational Improvement Council was tasked with giving input on the WISD Calendar for 2026-2027. A survey was then provided to staff and community with two draft calendars and asked respondents to vote on the calendar they felt best met the needs of the students, families, staff, and community. A total of 1,160 votes were cast with draft 1 chosen with a vote of 583. There were 577 votes for draft 2.

The Texas Education Code stipulates the school calendar include a minimum of 75,600 instructional minutes for students and 187 contract days for teachers. Texas schools may not start earlier than the fourth Monday in August and end no earlier than May 15; however, as a District of Innovation, Weatherford ISD is allowed flexibility and may start school earlier than the fourth Monday in August, if the Board so chooses.

The draft includes 77,560 instructional minutes for students, which exceeds the minimum number of minutes required by 1,960 minutes. These extra minutes will be used to meet the required minimum number of instructional minutes in the event the District must close due to inclement weather. The calendar draft also meets the guidelines regarding number of contract days for teachers.
