Student Feedback

The new backpack rule at Denfeld requires Denfeld students to store their backpacks, string totes, and athletic bags in lockers instead of previously being allowed in classrooms. Many students do not agree with this new rule and some students don't even acknowledge the rule.

I talked to both upperclassmen and underclassmen about this rule and the majority of the upperclassmen do not like this rule because it's harder for them to adjust considering upperclassmen have had backpacks on them for most of their high school career. For underclassmen this is a little different because they were already accustomed to the rule since the same one applies at Lincoln.

The Hunter License has received a lot of feedback over the years from both students and staff, both positive and negative. Many teachers like the hunter license because it makes students want to pass their classes and it can be an efficient way to improve Denfeld's graduation rate. But students have had their own opinions. In the past many students did not agree with the Hunter License because it was based off of grades AND attendance and many students found that to be unfair. Students also did not agree with the license because it determined your ability to attend games and students found this unfair as well because we need the most spirit at games and having that in place prevented students from attending games. This year the Hunter License is based off of Grades only and you do not need the Hunter License to attend games. With these changes I have heard more positive feedback from the student body regarding the Hunter License.
