Subject

ROOted in Excellence Series – Instructional Coaching

Background Information

This month, the spotlight in the Rooted in Excellence series will be on instructional coaching. This series highlights key academic initiatives each month, offering the Weatherford ISD Board and our community a deeper look into the district's commitment to educational excellence.

Instructional coaching is a powerful tool that supports teacher development and improves student learning. In Weatherford ISD, instructional coaches work side by side with teachers to refine instructional practices, analyze student data, and implement high-impact strategies in the classroom. Through ongoing coaching cycles, observation and feedback, and collaborative planning, coaches help ensure instruction is aligned to district expectations and responsive to student needs.

This month's presentation will feature teachers from Curtis Elementary, who will share their experiences with instructional coaching and how it has positively impacted their teaching practices and student learning.
