Class Size Waiver Compliance Plan

Fadden-McKeown-Chambliss Elementary is a school with grades 1 through 5. They are also the campus with the special education life skills classes for grades 1 through 3. Currently, there is one section of first grade at this school that has 23 students because a first grade life skills student moved to the district from another district during the week of November 23, 2009. There are two other schools in Beeville ISD that serve students in first grade, but they do not have the special education life skills classroom. This campus has a recognized rating.

All future regular education first grade students will be sent to one of the other two elementary schools. Beeville ISD has a high mobility rate. We anticipate some first graders to withdraw, but we cannot anticipate which classes or schools they will withdraw from.

The district's plan is to review enrollment each week and make sure that the enrollment does not go over 22 to 1, unless another life skills first grade student should enter the district, which is unlikely, but could happen.
