The screenshot displays the official website of the Alaska Department of Education and Early Development. At the top, a dark blue header features the state logo and the motto "Cama-i, guyana tailuci!" (Central Yup'ik: "Greetings, thank you for coming!"). Navigation links for "myAlaska", "Departments", and "State Employees" are present. Below this, a lighter blue banner contains the department's name and a search bar. A secondary navigation bar includes "Alaska Learns" and links to various resources like the Arts Council and State Board. A main menu with dropdown arrows lists categories: PARENTS, STUDENT LEARNING, EDUCATOR & SCHOOL EXCELLENCE, FINANCE & SUPPORT SERVICES, and DATA CENTER. The central focus is a large banner with a background image of the aurora borealis over a lake. It features the text "Welcome to The Compass" with a compass icon, followed by "A Guide to Alaska's Public Schools". Below this, a section titled "Choose a school to profile:" includes a text input field labeled "Type a school name" and a button labeled "Compare Two Schools".
