My child has access to the tools and resources needed to be successful as a student.	If no, what tools or resources does your child need?	CCS is committed to learning and applying ideas to improve our community and environment.	I would recommend CCS to other parents for their children. It's a well organized small town school that is well resourced and staffed.	Reopen the learning lab to support the learning process	My daughter has grown to appreciate the balance between growth and sustainment as well as learning to appreciate rich wildlife around her daily.

Going back to having the flexibility with online that we had before. No more trying to mix online students with hybrid plan. We did not choose this school to have to be in a classroom setting.

Having a learning coach has been an asset and she talks to Kayly about other things in her life as well as school, which makes it more comfortable and seem like she cares about the child and not just the schoolwork.	The learning coach for Kayly and the parent portal for me.	I don't have anything at this time	She has actually learned more in the short time with CCS than she had in the months before at her previous school. We have conversations about some of her videos and I like that she asks my thoughts on certain subjects. She cares about the environment and enjoyed the earth day civic project and cares about community working together. She is hard on herself and wants to do well in her classes and understand what is being taught. She has been a much happier person since changing schools. Thank you to everyone helping her.

5/19/2021 23:44:07	Agree	Agree	Agree	They really care	Agree	Agree		Agree	Agree		It was an already established online school when COVID hit and we felt that it would be a better option than distance learning through our local schools. We also really like the fact that it's an environmental charter school.	The teachers seem to connect with the students well even through virtual learning.	5th grade got off to a rocky start this year since the learning platform changed right as school was starting. The first half of the year felt disorganized and there were issues getting access to all the classes. Things improved the second half of the year and getting a dedicated teacher for the students (Mrs. Gilbertson) really helped. One other thing is that I contacted the school social worker to try to get some assistance or recommendations and didn't really get much response which was disappointing.	I think my children use their environmental knowledge in everyday interactions which promotes widespread consideration of our connections with and impact on the planet and other life on earth.

5/28/2021 9:18:04	Strongly agree	Agree	Agree	They really care	Strongly agree	Strongly agree		Agree	Strongly agree		Our Daughters school only went to 8th grade so other than public school this was a great option. Our local schools do not have resources for children with ASD so while our daughter was ahead academically she was struggling with being over stimulated.	Ashlyn's learning coach is the best. She does a morning check in with Ashlyn. In the beginning Ashlyn was struggling to stay on task as most kids with ASD and ADHD often do and Callie came up with a plan to just check in every morning at a certain time and this really helped. Ashlyn feel more connected to the school and help her stay focused.	I did find it kind of difficult to get Ashlyn enrolled. From even getting the application to contacting Holly was a hard. I do understand that due to COVID things were busier but just thought I would mention this.	Due to the flexible schedule Ashlyn is able to go back to her old school once a week and help tutor younger children. Online teaching is also something Ashlyn may want to do in the future so having great teachers online as roll models is amazing.
