Redistricting Process and Proposed Plan

December 6, 2021

Mike Morrison

The “Rules” of Redistricting

A Board’s redistricting authority is largely, but not entirely, unlimited

A plan must satisfy the equal protection guarantees of the 5th, 14th and 15th amendments

- Equal protection, in this context, requires equity in representation

The “Prime Directive” — Balance population

- Redistricting must avoid plans that result in:
  - Over Representation — too few residents gives to each increased influence
  - Under Representation — too many results in less influence
- Population equity does not require “perfect” equality
- It is judged against a principle commonly referred to as “One-Person One-Vote”
  - Counter intuitively, one-person one-vote refers to warm bodies, not voters

One-Person One-Vote

- The determination is based on the population variance:
  - (1) between that of the highest and lowest populated Districts, and
  - (2) among all Districts
- Variance is measured in terms of the maximum and average deviation from an ideal precinct
- The maximum deviation — the percentage of the variance between the highest and lowest populated districts — may not exceed 10%, without a compelling justification
- The average deviation — the mean of the average variance of all precincts collectively — subject to no specific limitation, but a common ceiling is +/- 3 or 4%

Avery v. Midland County, Tex. — “The Poster Child”

390 U.S. 474, (1968)

One-Person One-Vote applies to local governments

“[T]he Constitution imposes one ground rule for the arrangements of local government: a requirement that units with general governmental powers over an entire geographic area not be apportioned among single-member districts of substantially unequal population.”

- The population of the four commissioner precincts was:
  - One with 67,906, containing most of the city of Midland
  - Then three rural districts with populations of 852, 414, and 828, respectively

The basis of the complaint is obvious.

Q How near to equal must population be balanced?

Plans to balance population must avoid unlawful discrimination

The 5th and 14th amendments prohibit the federal and state governments from drawing distinctions among individuals based solely on differences irrelevant to any legitimate governmental objective, including race and ethnicity

This guarantee was extended to the right to vote by the 15th amendment

§1 “The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.”

7

§ 2 “The Congress shall have the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.”

Congress exercised this power in the Voting Rights Act (VRA) of 1965, as amended:

- In 1975 — brought Texas under the mandatory preclearance provisions for the first time
- In 1982 — added an “effects test” to the existing “intent test”
  - There is no longer a need to prove a specific “intent” to discriminate
  - A plan which has a discriminatory effect, whether intended or not, is a violation of the VRA

The Voting Rights Act

Dilution - VRA §2

- Packing — concentrating population to limit the number of minority districts
- Cracking — splitting a minority concentration to prevent creation of a meaningful minority district

Retrogression — VRA §§ 4 and 5

- Preclearance, was intended to prevent states from staying a jump ahead of the law
- While preclearance is no longer required, retrogression remains a concern

“Our decision in no way affects the permanent nationwide ban on racial discrimination in voting found in § 2. We issue no holding on § 5 itself, only on the coverage formula. Congress may draft another formula based on current conditions.” Shelby County, Ala. v. Holder, 570 U.S. 529, 557 (2013).

8

The “Poster Child” for retrogression — Gomillion, v. Lightfoot, 81 S.Ct. 125, 126 (1960)

Legislative Act 140 would have transformed the City of Tuskegee from a square “into a strangely irregular 28-sided figure” with the effect of removing from the city all save 4 or 5 of its 400 Black voters while not removing a single white voter or resident.

- Meaningful public input can protect against inadvertent violation of the VRA

District Goal or Objective Addressed:

Goal 1: Strengthen and support the engagement of all stakeholders in the pursuit of the BISD vision.

Background Information:

Redistricting occurs every 10 years following receipt of U.S. Census data. An essential requirement of the redistricting process is for protected minorities to be provided opportunities for substantial and meaningful public input and involvement during the redistricting process through multiple public presentations.

At the October 19, 2020 Board workshop, Holly Wardell, the District's legal counsel gave an overview of the 2020 Census and redistricting process. Following approval of a legal services agreement with Professor Mike Morrison of the Baylor Law School to redraw the District's five trustee areas, Mr. Morrison presented a report at the Board's regular meeting on September 20, 2021, and reviewed a draft proposal at a special meeting of the Board of Trustees on October 29, 2021.

Attached is a proposed resolution with exhibits identifying the proposed redistricting plan, to include the map, population count, and boundary field notes. Following the opportunity for input in the public hearing, the Board must approve the final plan for adoption which would become effective January 1, 2022, and be used to conduct the BISD trustee election in May 2022 and thereafter. Redistricting plans from Texas are no longer required to be submitted to the U.S. Attorney General for voting rights preclearance.

Fiscal Implications:

Minimal cost to print new boundary maps for reference.

Administrative Recommendation(s):

If no other changes requested, approve the proposed resolution adopting a Redistricting Plan for the Belton ISD Board of Trustees.
