I am very satisfied with the means and manner of communication.
2/28/2012 9:00 AM View Responses

Considering the large amount of assessment done, more frequent communication of scores and what they mean would be helpful.
2/27/2012 7:51 PM View Responses

I think the school website should actually list Faculty and Administrator's e-mail addresses as I have found that the form fields provided within the school websites to contact faculty don't seem to work properly. Everytime I have tried to reach a teacher through that means, using the webforms, I have never received a response and I am not certain that the recipient ever actually received it. In those instances in which I was trying to reach a faculty member, other than my child's own Teacher, I have no other option through the district/school website to reach them. A master list of emails or phone numbers would be helpful.

While I rely primarily on emails, I wish there were not SO many. It's very hard to go through them all. I end up missing information and events.

I have been mostly happy with Bethel schools. I am concerned that students are not encourage to do their best and mediocre seems to be accepted by most teachers. I am also somewhat concerned the the amount of student teachers my daughter has this year.                      2/27/2012 7:23 PM View Responses Parent Portal is the best thing we have to know what is going on with our children!                      2/27/2012 8:00 AM View Responses Sometimes, new technology is not as good as the old fashioned ways of teaching. Using Senteo for taking tests deprives a student from going back to review their answers and they are not given time to take the test at their own pace. Often they are forced to guess just so the teacher can move to the next question. Not all teachers want to use smartboards, so there isn't a need to have one in every classroom. Why aren't school closings sent to FOX 61 in Hartford? That's the only TV channel we watch in the morning. There should be one email group created for general messages that are not school specific (i.e. superintendent's message.) That would eliminate receiving the same email multiple times (one for each child in the school system). We like the new track.                      2/26/2012 5:37 PM View Responses Hopefully we will continue with positive development of our district                      2/26/2012 12:34 AM View Responses

I understand the concept of full-day Kindergarten, but still feel it is way too much for a 5/6 year old. Full day was marketed through emails from the Superintendents Office as a financial gain for parents who wouldn't have to spend the money in daycare costs. My husband &amp; I split our schedules so that we can be home with our girls. The full day schedule is a lot of work and an extremely busy schedule and homework 3 nights too! My daughter is on the bus by 8:15am and home by 4:05 - and very tired by the end of the day (with a 7pm bedtime).                      2/29/2012 1:51 PM View Responses I feel that Rockwell needs some structural improvements like the BerrySchool has - not having room to have concerts and such activities because of lack of space.                      2/24/2012 10:59 AM View Responses So happy you took away our holidays as result of storms. Would be happy to let go of Vetrans holidays every year.                      2/24/2012 9:21 AM View Responses I support and understand that schools have a lot of areas and that they are being evaluated. Testing is always in the front of that and needs to be important to some extent. I do feel that children in the 2nd and third grade while getting ready and being assessed is part of life that a reminder needs to be put out there that they are only 7 and 8 years old. School needs to be motivating and exciting and learning should be too. There should be room for it all even with the looming CMT especially at a young elementary age. The teachers have all been great but I feel the assessments are alot. Then the teachers have to be out of the classroom to be trained and grade the assessments.                      2/23/2012 10:38 PM View Responses

I understand the importance of technology and applying it to all subjects and I appreciate the technology classes that are required in the middle school. I do feel that my child has spent numerous hours at home completing creative projects on the computer that require the latest technology (for basic subjects), at times we have felt that the projects require our child to have computer "designing" skills as opposed to knowledge of the actual subject matter. A few homework assignments have required us to have more up to date computer equipment at home; we had to go to the library or a friend's house for my child to complete the assignment. Not having the latest computers/technology at home should not hinder my child from doing her homework.

I am very proud of the progress made in Bethel over the last decade. When the need to move was pushed upon us, as a family, we decided that even if we had to eat PBJ every day, we would stretch our budget to stay in Bethel over a much less expensive option in Danbury- there is no other public school system anywhere that I would feel comfortable sending my children.

I hope the BOE will help the schools to stop teaching to the CMT's and teach more creatively like it was done when I grew up.
