Texas English Language Proficiency Assessment System (TELPAS) Update

Presented for:

Dr. Peggy Johnson

Background Information:

TELPAS is an assessment program for students in Texas public schools who are learning the English language. The letters in TELPAS stand for the Texas English Language Proficiency Assessment System. The Texas Education Agency developed TELPAS to meet state and federal testing requirements. Texas assesses English language learners annually in listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Students learning the English language begin participating in TELPAS in kindergarten and stop participating when their language proficiency assessment committee (LPAC) determines that they are proficient in the English language.

For students in kindergarten through grade 1, TELPAS consists of holistically rated assessments in listening, speaking, reading, and writing. The holistically rated assessments use classroom observations to measure students' progress in listening, speaking, reading, and writing in English.

For students in grades 2-12, TELPAS has multiple-choice reading tests and holistically rated assessments in listening, speaking, and writing. TELPAS assesses the progress that students are making in learning English.

The multiple-choice reading test is a one-day test that measures students' annual progress in learning to read in English. The assessments of listening, speaking, and writing are based on classroom observations and a collection of the student's writing.

TELPAS uses proficiency levels beginning, intermediate, high, and advanced high to show the progress students make in learning English from year to year. More specifically, these proficiency levels rate student progress relative to academic situations such as in class, as compared to social situations when they are outside of class or with friends.

To meet federal regulations for reporting TELPAS results, campuses notify students and parents of the within about 2 weeks after receiving the results. In addition, the results are reported to the board annually, by September of each year. However, the TELPAS data will not be fully released until October. Results will be mailed to parents, sent home with students, or given to parents during teacher conferences within two weeks after the data is received.
